

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A method and device to treat superficial lesions in the skin such as solar lentigines that involves a light based energy delivery system in conjunction with a pulsed cooling device to selectively heat surface targets without damage to deeper skin structures.

5

///